ENSURING COLLECTION CARE FOR THE FUTURE: ONGOING RESEARCH IN METHODS & MATERIALS FOR PREVENTIVE CONSERVATION

Special Event: A Preventive Conservation Symposium

The Museum Conservation Institute in collaboration with the National Collections Program and the National Museum of Natural History is pleased to announce a symposium on preventive conservation. This program brings expert practitioners in preventive conservation from across the country to discuss current and future trends in the study and preservation of cultural heritage, especially research into the materials used with collections and the methods used to test those materials. This special event is designed to encourage forward thinking through opportunities to hear from practitioners at the forefront of innovative preventive conservation research.
